DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

A broad range or limitation together with a narrow range or limitation that falls within the broad range or limitation (in the same claim) is considered indefinite, since the resulting claim does not clearly set forth the metes and bounds of the patent protection desired. See MPEP § 2173.05(c). Note the explanation given by the Board of Patent Appeals and Interferences in Ex parte Wu, 10 USPQ2d 2031, 2033 (Bd. Pat. App. & Inter. 1989), as to where broad language is followed by "such as" and then narrow language. The Board stated that this can render a claim indefinite by raising a question or doubt as to whether the feature introduced by such language is (a) merely exemplary of the remainder of the claim, and therefore not required, or (b) a required feature of the claims. Note also, for example, the decisions of Ex parte Steigewald, 131 USPQ 74 (Bd. App. 1961); Ex parte Hall, 83 USPQ 38 (Bd. App. 1948); and Ex parte Hasche, 86 USPQ 481 (Bd. App. 1949). In the present instance, claims 1, 2, and 5-8 recites the broad recitation of the range of ingredients, and the claim also recites a narrower range of ingredients, which is the narrower statement of the range/limitation.

Art Unit: 1793

The other claims are indefinite because they depend on indefinite claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Fifer et al. (USP 4,379,007) in view of Clark, Ind. Eng. Chem., 1933, 25 (12), 1384-1390.

Regarding claim 1

Fifer teaches the use of an oxidizer from about 0-20 % and Fifer teaches the use of nitramine propellants including but not limited to Tetryl preferably in an amount of about 50-80 % (column 2, line 64 to column 3, line 10).

Art Unit: 1793

Although, Fifer does not teach the use of dipicrylaminoethyl nitrate, Fifer does teach the use of Tetryl. However, because Clark teaches analogs of Tetryl such as Pentryl (trinitrophenylnitraminoethyl) made by nitration of 2,4-dinitrophenylamino ethanol, Clark further teaches bis-dinitrophenylaminoethanol, which upon nitration would form dipicrylaminoethyl nitrate, and the reference teaches that this is a compound of interest to be studied later, it would have been prima facie obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention to modify the reference of Fifer, by substituting dipicrylaminoethyl nitrate for Tetryl, as suggested by Clark, with a reasonable expectation of success.

Regarding claims 2 and 4

Fifer teaches that nitroguanidine is a nitramine such as Tetryl (column 3, lines 3-12), and the courts have held that it is prima facie obvious to combine two or three compositions, each taught for the same purpose to yield a third composition for that very purpose. In re Kerkhoven, 205 USPQ 1069, In re Pinten, 173 USPQ 801, and In re Susi, 169 USPQ 423.

Regarding claim 3

Fifer teaches ammonium nitrate as the oxidizer (column 2, line 64-66).

Regarding claim 5

Fifer teaches the use of about 0-20 % metal, such as aluminum (column 2, lines 64-66).

Regarding claims 6 and 7

Art Unit: 1793

Fifer teaches the use of up to 50 % binder such as nitrocellulose (column 2, lines 55-61).

Regarding claim 8

Fifer teaches that it is known to use salicylates, such as sodium salicylate, that are effective with nitrocellulose based propellants (column 1, lines 43-55).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

Claim 9 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. Statutory classes are compositions, methods/processes, apparatus, and articles of manufacture.
